Official Document Cover Page

In April 2022, Ryerson University announced its new name of Toronto Metropolitan University, which will be implemented in a phased approach. The legal name of the university will remain Ryerson University until such time as the name change is recognized by an act of provincial parliament. Official documents are issued under the current legal name, Ryerson University, directly through MyCreds™ which is owned by the Association of Registrars of the Universities and Colleges of Canada (ARUCC) and powered by Digitary, a trusted international verified digital credential platform. MyCreds™ ensures document authenticity. When transcripts, credentials, and any other documents are issued through MyCreds™, they are verifiable, secure, and include a cryptographic signature.

If you have received a notification of this document from noreply@mycreds.ca and a link to access it through MyCreds™, you are viewing a certified official document that you can trust. A document routed to you as an attachment from an individual personal email is not official and may not reflect the most recent version.

When viewed in PDF format in Adobe 9.0 or later, this document has a number of security features described below. These security features do not apply to a printed copy. This document is shared as a single-use transaction between the learner and the recipient and downloads are for record-keeping purposes only. Forwarding or reproducing this document will render the document not valid.

SECURITY INFORMATION

To verify the authenticity of the digital document, make sure you are accessing it online via a link to the document on MyCreds™. The link will start with <https://learner.mycreds.ca>.

When viewed in PDF format in Adobe Reader 9.0 (or later), the digital signature of the document should be interpreted as follows:

The blue-ribbon symbol signifies that the contents of the document have not been altered after it was downloaded. It does not signify its currency (it may have been revoked or replaced by the institution or organization with a more up-to-date document). If the document does not display a valid certification and signature message, reject this document immediately.

This symbol with a red cross signifies that the issued document is invalid. An invalid digital certificate display means either the digital signature is not authentic, or the document has been altered. A document with an invalid digital signature display should be rejected.

This symbol signifies that the Author is Unknown. Author Unknown can have two possible meanings: The document is a self-signed document or has been issued by an unknown or untrusted authority and, therefore, has not been trusted. If you receive this message, make sure you are properly connected to the internet. If you have a connection and you still cannot validate the digital signature online, reject this document.

This symbol indicates that Adobe needs to validate the signatures. You will need to follow the instructions to validate the signature. Should the signature validate successfully, you will be presented with the blue-ribbon symbol above. If it cannot validate the signature, the red cross will be presented.

This document is available for viewing until the expiry date set by the Learner. If your access has expired, you will need to contact the Learner to request a new share of the document. MyCreds™ cannot reissue documents.

For details about Toronto Metropolitan University's grading scales, academic standing and continuance policies, please refer to the institutional legend: <https://www.torontomu.ca/current-students/grades-standings/transcripts/legend/>. English is the medium of instruction and examination at the university. Language courses, such as French and Spanish, are an exception.
